It was agreed that the President should approach the museum about doing a First Thursday again in 2011.

Virgil suggested the tree was one of the few avenues to expose woodturning to the general public. One of the newer members remembers being very impressed by last year's tree. The October meeting will be the due date for this year's the ornaments. It was suggested that August would be a good meeting to demonstrate the making of various types of ornaments other than the typical finial, ice sickle ball type of ornament.

Six members demonstrated various jigs and techniques to enhance woodturning.
